Adding new categories or modifying the existing ones is easy. In order to save a tip category in the database, you need to add a category, add a subcategory and then add a tip to it. After saving a tip category, you can add more tips to that category by adding a tip and then saving that tip to the database. Search tips: Search tips are searches that you do directly from the IDE. These tips can be added using the Toolbar Search Edit or the Options - Toolbar Search Edit menu. Search tips can be saved as a search category. Adding a search category should be done as you would do for category tips. The only difference is that you save the search category to a database by using a button located on the Options - Search Dialog Edit tab. Tips Manager:
